

Welcome2Stay invites everyone to join us for arts and happenings on March 18th, starting at noon in Göttingen.

While Europe is trying to distance herself from the topic of migration – either with deals with Erdogan or Al-Sisi, or with more boarder protection and patrol – Germany is continuing its deportation process. This also reaches Göttingen where many people are scared to be deported.

However, not only did refugees fight for their way into the EU but the locals also started their own welcoming initiatives. Since then a big part of society lives in solidarity with refugees.

We won't give up this feeling of solidarity as we will not let go of our right to come, leave and stay.

And we are not alone. In Greece, Spain, Italy and many other Germany cities, people will demonstrate for social equality and the right to come, leave and stay.

Please come out and support us at the happenings on March 18th, starting at noon in downtown Göttingen.

Welcome2Stay

www.papiere-fuer-alle.org/welcome2stay-goe